

Party in a Basket

I know you have all had a chance to donate a basket to an organization for charity, and that is a generous thing to do. However sometimes that leads to nothing and you never even get to me the winner or silent auction highest bidder. Last year my Offspring Carol Huntsberger came up with a brilliant idea. Instead of donating a $100.00 basket for one winner, she decided to donate a M.K. party in a basket. She filled it with 6 goodie bags which included 2 full size products (mascara and lip gloss) and all the other PARTY favors....eyelook cards, sponges, chocolate, and her business card. Also in the basket were party hats or plastic Tiaras which you can pick up at your local party store for under $2.00. Then you cellophane the basket and add a fabulous big bow. You of course come with the basket and at least you have one booking and they all get wonderful products and some Girlfriend fun! You could do this for other events....maybe you have a booth at a mall, or health fair. Think of this for even booking from your classes! There are no end to the possibilities!
